InXXX Adult Cartoons Dragonball. Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville, TN, and the University of Utah Health Sciences Center in Salt Lake City, UT, have received a $10 million commitment from the Children's Mercy Hospital and Clinics Foundation to support pediatric cancer care and research in the United States and globally. The investment will fund nine research and clinical programs at two major academic medical centers devoted to pediatric cancer care, as well as the development of new or revised pediatric cancer research programs and core facilities. The programs to be supported will span a wide range of pediatric cancer-related research, ranging from testing new cancer therapies and diagnostics to developing or improving treatment options for specific types of cancer in children. The support will be made through two grants totaling $10 million made to Vanderbilt, a private, non-profit, tertiary care, research-only hospital, and the University of Utah, a public, state-owned, teaching institution. “The generosity and commitment of The Children’s Mercy Hospital and Clinics Foundation is truly appreciated by Vanderbilt and the University of Utah,” said Robert P. Johnstone, M.D., Senior Vice President, University of Utah Health Sciences Center. “This funding is a tremendous investment in our patient care and clinical research programs, and the development of new research efforts in pediatric cancer. This will allow us to expand and improve the treatments and outcomes of children with cancer.”

Vanderbilt and the University of Utah were selected from more than 60 applicants after an exhaustive process that included an extensive international screening of their pediatric cancer programs. The grants are scheduled to be
